

ZIPTALES

Worksheet 1

Kay Cottee's Adventures

A Dash of This and a Dash of That...

A dash is a short line used to break up a sentence. It usually adds extra information to a main statement.

For example: I love fishing - particularly in the ocean!

Finish these sentences by using a dash to join extra information to a main statement.

Extra Information

- the last part of her trip.
- all 6 tonnes of it.
- that's about 45,000 kilometres.
- an intense fiery light.
- that's the height of a five storey building!
- because it would be sailing through some of the worst seas on earth.

Main Statements

1. She travelled 22,000 nautical miles - that's about 45,000 kilometres.

2. The yacht was strengthened _____

3. She was in the Southern Ocean _____

4. Some waves were 14 metres high _____

5. The boat was practically surfing _____

6. She let off a distress flare _____